Millions of students wear school uniforms. Teachers believe that students in uniforms behave better. Some say that students should choose what they want to wear. What do you think?

School Uniforms Are Good

First, students can dress faster. Some students take 30 minutes or longer to get ready in the morning. They must choose their clothes. They have to choose the pants and shirts they want to wear. With uniforms, students can get dressed more quickly. They do not choose their clothes. They just put on their uniforms and go to school. Second, students behave better. This was proven by a study. It says that students who wear uniforms have better attendance. They study harder. They also have higher high school graduation rates.

School Uniforms Are Not Good

For one, paying for uniforms is unfair. Public schools are free. Students there do not pay for education. Therefore, they should not buy uniforms. They are also too expensive. One uniform costs a couple of hundred dollars. Some families cannot pay this much money for clothes. Additionally, students should have the freedom to choose what they want to wear. Uniforms are a type of censorship because students cannot wear the clothes they want. Students should be allowed to express themselves with their clothing. This will help them show their identity.
