Reading Text: My Cabin Crew Uniform – by Elena

Hello! My name is Elena, and I work as a flight attendant for SkyWay Airlines. Our airline has two official uniform styles: the classic uniform and the modern uniform.

I usually wear the classic uniform. It's elegant and formal. I wear a fitted navy-blue jacket with silver buttons, a crisp white blouse, and a knee-length pencil skirt. Around my neck, I tie a silky red scarf. I wear low-heeled black leather shoes that are both stylish and comfortable.

My colleague David wears the modern version of the uniform. He wears a smart light grey blazer with a white dress shirt and matching grey trousers. His tie is dark blue with thin red stripes. He also wears black shoes, but his are flat and polished.

We both carry essential items during flights. In my small black handbag, I keep my passport, crew ID, lipstick, a compact mirror, and my cabin crew manual. David carries his items in a navy-blue shoulder bag. His bag has a water bottle, breath mints, hand sanitizer, and his manual too.

I really like both versions of the uniform. The classic one feels traditional and stylish, while the modern one is practical and fresh. We always check each other's uniform before boarding. It's important to look professional and feel confident when we greet passengers.
