

US Soccer Champions Fight for Equal Pay

The US soccer team took home its fourth World Cup trophy last weekend, and was undefeated in the 2019 . Though the battles on the soccer fields are over, the US team is not done fighting. The national team is currently in a legal battle with its employer over pay. Members of the US team a lawsuit against the US Soccer Federation on International Women's Day last March. The women are demanding to be the same amount as their American male counterparts. In a celebratory parade in New York City on Monday, people chanted "USA. Equal Pay!"