Nouns can be countable or uncountable. Countable nouns are things that you can count. Uncountable nouns are things that you cannot count.

We use a, an, or one before a singular countable noun.
an onion, a mushroom, one melon

We can use numbers or some before plural countable nouns.
three onions, two mushrooms, some melons.

We use some before uncountable nouns.
Uncountable nouns don't have a plural form. We don't use a or an.
some iced tea, some meat

We can use that before any noun.
I'd like that melon.
