

Text: GOOD COEXISTENCE

Living together in a community involves respect, cooperation, and understanding. People from different backgrounds must learn to communicate effectively, show empathy, and resolve conflicts peacefully. Conviviality also requires patience and tolerance, especially when dealing with diverse opinions or behaviors. In a harmonious society, individuals are aware of their responsibilities towards others and work collaboratively to create a supportive environment.

I. Instructions: Read the following statements based on the previous text and complete the answer with the correct option (A, B, or C):

1. Living in a community requires...
  - A) Only effective communication.
  - B) Respect, cooperation, and empathy.
  - C) The elimination of differences.
2. When someone has different opinions, the best attitude is...
  - A) To ignore the difference.
  - B) Tolerance and patience.
  - C) To argue to convince.
3. The goal of creating an environment of harmonious coexistence is...
  - A) For people to have shared responsibilities and work together.
  - B) For everyone to think alike.
  - C) To ensure that everyone acts only in their own best interests.

II. Instructions: Complete the following sentences with the corresponding ideas, linking main ideas, comparisons, causes, or consequences.

- a) Living together implies that people must learn to...
- b) When an individual shows empathy and respect, this leads to...
- c) Patience and tolerance are necessary characteristics for...