IN MY ENGLISH CLASS

My classmates and I are studying English together in the classroom. The teacher is writing sentences on the board, and we are copying them in our notebooks. Some students are asking questions, and others are listening carefully. Our English teacher is helping us understand the present continuous tense. The fans are spinning, and the clock is ticking while we are learning. It is raining outside, but we are not playing in the yard.

Right now, my best friend is sitting next to me. She is drawing a picture of a cat. Some boys are looking for their pencils under the desks. Our teacher is speaking very clearly, and everyone is paying attention. We are all enjoying the English class and learning new things every day.
