

Listening Part 1

Listen and draw lines. There is one example.

Sarah

Emma

Harry

Robert

 An illustration of a café scene. In the foreground, there are two tables with pink and white checkered tablecloths. At the left table, a boy in a green shirt is sitting and looking at a phone. An older woman with grey hair is sitting opposite him, looking at a book. At the right table, a girl with dark skin and curly hair is sitting and looking at a book. In the background, there is a counter with a male staff member in a green apron. A customer with blonde hair is ordering. To the right, a display case shows various cakes and pastries. A sign above the counter lists menu items: Sandwiches, Pancakes, Wraps, Hot Chocolate, and Lemonade. A customer with brown hair is looking at the display. Another customer with purple hair is standing next to them. A man in a green shirt is standing to the right, looking towards the counter. A speech bubble above him says 'YLE Flyers'.

Richard

Helen

Mary

Disclaimer: This resource has been made for the purpose of teaching English language learners. We know that students can be learning English in many different places, in many different ways and at any age, so we try to keep these resources as general as possible.

There are many acronyms associated with English language teaching. These include (but are not limited to) ELT, TEFL, EFL, ELL, EAL and ESOL. While the term ESL may not fully represent the linguistic backgrounds of all students, it is the most widely recognised term for English language teaching globally. Therefore, we use the term 'ESL' in the names of our resources to make them easy to find but they are suitable for any student learning to speak English.