You will need to complete three written (1) assignments each semester. Then you will receive grades for each of them. You need to work hard with a serious attitude, or you can receive a Fail grade for that course.

This semester I want to do a (2) course in art and design. Next semester I will take a course in photography. All of these courses are compulsory in my Graphic Design major.

I didn't receive very good (3) grades for my last essay. My lecturer said the paragraphs in my (4) essay were not very well-written and it was hard to understand the main points.

I have an (5) examination in mathematics next week, so I need to spend most of my time reviewing the concepts I learned and doing more practices.

To have enough information to write this essay, you will need to do more (6) research. Read more on local newspapers and update yourself with online news in other Asian countries. Also, you can interview the local experts for more information.

The final assignment will be a history (7) project. You will have to start from Week 5 and will submit the project by the end of Week 10. You need to visit the museums, start collecting relevant photos and write a report.

The requirement of the (8) report is to describe and analyze the current use of public transportation in your local area. The report has to be around 2500 words.

I am doing a (9) presentation on how to protect the local environment. I have 5 minutes to present, and then my teacher and my classmates will ask questions on that topic.

At our university, every school year has three (10) terms. Each term you are expected to take around 3-4 courses. We don't have summer break. Instead, we have spring break.
