Task 3: Read and choose True/ False/ Not given.The School Project

Last month, our English teacher asked us to prepare a project about famous explorers. My group decided to work on Marco Polo. At first, everything went well. We met after school and carried on researching information on the internet.

However, one day, Tom forgot to bring the notes. He tried to make up an excuse, but we didn't believe him. We were annoyed, but we had to put up with his behavior because the deadline was very close.

While we were working, our teacher came to check our progress. She told us not to get away from the main topic. Instead, she asked us to talk about Marco Polo's travels more clearly. We listened carefully because we all look up to her for her knowledge and patience.

In the end, we finished the project on time and gave back the books we had borrowed from the library. On presentation day, Tom was nervous, but he carried on speaking and everyone clapped. The teacher praised us and said she hoped we would come back with another good project next term.

- 1.The group chose Christopher Columbus for their project.
- 2.Tom forgot his notes once.
- 3.The teacher wanted them to focus more on Marco Polo's travels.
- 4.The group didn't finish the project.
- 5.Tom stopped speaking during the presentation.
- 6.The students always worked at school, never at home.
- 7.They borrowed some books from the library.
- 8.The teacher praised their project in front of the class..
