

Rewrite the following sentences in a more formal style.

1. Average running speed was 9.7 km/h on pavement, compared to 8.2km/h on grass.

Therefore running is more efficient on smooth surfaces.

Average running speed was 9.7 km/h on pavement, compared to 8.2km/h on grass.

This may suggest that running is more efficient on smooth surfaces.

2. Bad parenting leads to poorly behaved children

3. I believe this model is valid.

4. These really lucky people may be advantaged by healthcare services.

5. The company wants to pull out of the deal.

6. You have many course options at State University.

6. You have many course options at State University.

7. York represents an incredibly vivacious school market.

8. Students benefit most from relationships outside the classroom.(John and Edwards, 2007)

9. Parents who smoke are obviously abusing their children.

10. Second-hand smoke causes cancer.
