 Jason's Celebration!

The Chen family is planning a surprise party for Jason's birthday. Mrs. Chen will make the pizza. Alex will put up the decorations, and Lisa will choose the music. Mr. Chen will go fill the cooler with ice.

"Alex, we're out of ice," says Mr. Chen. "Could you get some more?"

"Sure, Dad. No problem," says Alex.

"Can I go with you?" asks Lisa. "I need to get some more tomato sauce."

"Sure, Lisa," says Alex.

Alex and Lisa walk down the street. Lisa is in a hurry.

"Let's walk across the highway," she says. "We'll get there faster!"

"It's not safe," says Alex. "We should walk on the sidewalk and cross at the crosswalk."

Lisa doesn't listen. She tries to cut across the highway, but the cars are going fast.

"Whoa! You're right, Alex," she says. "It's not safe!"

Alex and Lisa use the crosswalk and go to the store. They buy ice and tomato sauce, and then walk back home. When they get there, Mrs. Chen is waiting.

"What took you so long?" asks Mrs. Chen.

"We took the long way," says Lisa, "but we were safe!"

A Year of Global Festivals

People around the world enjoy special celebrations in every season. These festivals often have unique traditions that bring people together.

In the winter, people in India will celebrate Diwali, the Festival of Lights. Families will clean their homes, light small oil lamps called diyas, and decorate the floors with colorful designs called rangoli. They will wear new clothes and share mithai (sweets) with friends and family. The celebration symbolizes the triumph of good over evil.

In the spring, people in India will also celebrate Holi, the Festival of Colors. People gather in public spaces and throw colored powders and colored water at each other in a joyous celebration of the arrival of spring and the victory of good over evil. They will also eat special festive foods.

In the summer, people in France will celebrate Bastille Day on July 14th. The day starts with a large military parade on the Champs-Élysées in Paris. In the evening, people will enjoy picnics, public dances called bals des pompiers (firemen's balls), and huge fireworks displays, especially around the Eiffel Tower.

In the fall, people in the United States and Canada will celebrate Thanksgiving. Families will gather together to share a large, special meal. The traditional meal includes foods like roast turkey, cranberry sauce, and pumpkin pie. Many people also watch the famous Thanksgiving Day parades on television. This holiday is a time to express gratitude for the blessings of the past year.

Answer the questions.

1. What will people decorate their floors with for Diwali?

2. What do people in India throw at each other during the Holi festival?

3. What kind of parade is held on Bastille Day in Paris?

4. What will people in United States and Canada celebrate in the fall?
