

What kind of traveler are you?

Activity: Find Someone Who... (Class Mixer)

Walk around the room and ask classmates until you find someone who says "Yes." Then write your partner's name next to the experience.

Prompts

- Have you ever traveled alone?
- Have you ever worked while traveling?
- Have you ever stayed in a luxury hotel?
- Have you ever eaten only local food on a trip?
- Have you ever hiked in a national park?
- Have you ever visited more than one museum in one day?
- Have you ever volunteered while traveling?

I used to be a luxury traveler. I booked hotels with pools, ate in expensive restaurants, and took taxis everywhere.

But something changed after I took a trip to Patagonia last year. Since then, I've stayed in guesthouses, walked through cities, and eaten at markets. I haven't flown business class in two years. I've already visited three national parks this year, and I've just come back from a week-long train trip through the south.

I still enjoy comfort, but I've learned that the best memories come from simple moments.

Maybe I've become more of an adventure traveler—or a bit of a foodie!
