

Listening Activity

Pre-Listening Activity

Agree or Disagree Games

These statements are designed to get everyone thinking, moving, and talking! The goal is to explore ideas, share opinions, and get ready for the next part of the lesson.

- In a face-to-face classroom: Read each statement aloud. If you agree, move to one side of the room; if you disagree, move to the other. Talk with your group. Why do you feel that way? Then, pair students with members of the other group and have students explain their reasons. Rotate partners for more practice.

1. "It was better to travel in a small group than with many people."
2. "I watched more YouTube videos last weekend than I played outside."
3. "The best movie I ever watched was a comedy movie."
4. "I helped my parents do chores every day during the last school holiday."
5. "It was easier to do schoolwork when I was in elementary school."

Aisha: Hey, Rizky! Yeah, I can hear you. It's much better now. So, how was your holiday, actually? You sounded super ..... in your texts. (relaxed)

Rizky: It was pretty good. I went to Dieng Plateau for three days. You know, up in the mountains. It was freezing up there! I ..... my thickest jumper, so I shivered all night. It was so rough. (forgot)

Aisha: Oh my goodness! But I ..... the pictures! The sunrises looked incredible. Did you manage to see the view clearly? (Saw)

Rizky: Absolutely! We woke up at 3:30 AM, hiked up a small hill, and..... When the sun finally came up, the colours were insane. I took tons of videos. Afterward, we visited the old temples. It felt like I stepped back in time. (waited)

Aisha: That sounds much more fun than what I did. I just ..... most of the time at my grandmother's house in Bandung. Just relaxing and... cooking. (spent)

Rizky: No way! You're kidding! Did he get mad?

Aisha: Not at all! He just laughed so hard he almost fell off his chair. Everyone burst out laughing. I didn't win the cooking prize, but I made a great family memory!

Rizky:That's classic. Seriously, I ..... talking to you. Anyway, I just wanted to hear about your break before class starts tomorrow. (missed)

Aisha:Thanks for calling! Me too. I didn't do any studying, by the way. See you on campus tomorrow! Bye!
