The camp is very rich / poor. There are stones, sand, tents, small adobe rooms and animal pens. There aren't any trees and there isn't any grass.

Kori goes to a special school. There are blind children and other children like him. At school, he learns to tie his shoes / boots and he also learns to draw / swim. He likes drawing animals, cars, tents and people. His favourite animal is the camel. He likes their big size, their long neck and their hump. He wants to ride a camel / horse / motorbike.

Kori thinks camels can fly / speak / sing , because they move their lips like people.

In the camp, most pens have goats. Some are black, red or white. Some are big, with horns. Kori doesn't like goats because they bite him. He prefers cats / camels / dolphins because they are calm.

Kori's aunt has a he-camel / she-camel. Every day, he visits her and helps to feed her. Kori talks to the camel, moving his lips, but he cannot understand her answers.

One day, Kori sees something new. The she-camel has a baby. The little camel is caramel-coloured. It has long weak / strong legs and very soft nose / wings / hair. Kori smiles. He is happy and wants to touch it.

The baby camel moves its lips. Kori thinks: "He knows my name / brother !" Kori decides to call him Honey / Caramel. He touches the little animal's head. It is soft and warm. From that day, Kori and Caramel are friends / enemies . They hate / love each other.
