A: Hi Sophia, what are you doing?

Sophia: I'm doing my homework.

A: Is it your laptop?

Sophia: No, my dad bought it last week.

A: So it's his?

Sophia: Yes.

A: Oh, right.

Sophia: I use it to watch films on too. I've got a tablet, but I can't watch films on it.

A: Do you play computer games on it?

Sophia: Yes, I do. Go, Aliens! is my favourite.

A: What's that?

Sophia: There are lots of aliens. You're on the moon and you click on a spaceship to escape the aliens. The aliens are bad!

A: Sounds fun!

Sophia: It is. I'm on level 26 now. I like Room too.

A: What's that?

Sophia: There are different boxes in different rooms and you use keys to open them.

A: Oh, right. I don't know that game.

Sophia: I can send you an email with information about it.

A: Oh, thank you. Have you got an email address?

Sophia: Yes, I have. I don't send a lot of emails because I can never remember my password! My little brother's is easy to remember, but I always forget mine.

A: Who do you send emails to?

Sophia: My friend Emma, but she doesn't like writing. She uses lots of emojis in her emails to show her feelings, and not many words.

A: Do you and Emma talk on the phone much?

Sophia: No, not really. I usually use my mobile phone to listen to music. My sister's headphones are better than mine, so I usually use hers!
