

Read the following letter to a problem page and edit the errors.

Capitalisation: 2 / Vocabulary: 2 / Spelling: 2 / Grammar: 2 / Word Order: 2

Dear auntie,

My name is salim and I'm 16. I try to be a dependable son, but my parents still trot me like a little kid, and it's becoming a real problem.

I just want hang out with my friends sometimes, but my parents get very suspicious. Every time I ask to go out, they investigate me about where I'm going and who I'm with. It feel very stressful, and it's starting to cause conflict. I get usually along with them, but this constant pressure is hard.

I'm worried that if I try to open up to them, they will just freak out and say no. I want more trast and freedom, but I don't know how to ask for it without making worse things.

Can you help me?

Yours,
Salim