Dear Granny,

This weekend, there was a big mountain biking competition near our village. It was more exciting than the one last year because there were more people and louder music. The park was less crowded than the village, so Mum and Dad watched the race from there. The weather was sunnier than on Saturday, and everyone was happier.

The winner was faster and braver than all the other cyclists. Some parts of the race were more dangerous than they looked! After the competition, we went to the modern café. It was cheaper and cleaner than the old one near the historical castle. The cakes were sweeter and the chairs more comfortable.

Then we walked by the river. It was calmer and prettier than the road, and we saw some ducks swimming. The water was colder than I expected! It was such a nice day.

Love, Daisy

1. Why was the competition more exciting than last year?
a) Because there were more people and louder music
b) Because it was shorter
c) Because it was on television

2. Why did Mum and Dad watch the race from the park?
a) Because it was less crowded than the village
b) Because it was cheaper
c) Because it was raining

3. What does Daisy say about the winner?
a) The winner was slower than the others
b) The winner was faster and braver than the others
c) The winner was younger than the others

4. How was the modern café different from the old one?
a) It was smaller and darker
b) It was bigger and noisier
c) It was cleaner and cheaper

5. What did Daisy think about the walk by the river?
a) It was boring and long
b) It was calm and beautiful
c) It was very dangerous

LIVEWORKSHEETS