Luxury Railways

Not everyone can afford to travel on luxury trains. These trains provide comfort and excellent service to help make your holiday experience a memorable one. But they come at a very high cost.

There are many luxury trains operating in every continent. They offer travellers the chance to go on unforgettable journeys to interesting destinations. Below are descriptions of two such trains.

The first is the Royal Rajasthan on Wheels. This train offers a seven-day journey through the state of Rajasthan, India. Your journey begins and ends in New Delhi. It makes a few stops during the journey so passengers can enjoy the sights. An English-speaking guide takes passengers to explore cities. There is a stop to visit a national tiger park and the world-famous Taj Mahal. Each cabin is equipped with a large comfortable bed with silk bedspreads, velvet curtains, chairs, a writing table and an attached bath. There are restaurants offering Indian, international and Chinese cuisines. If passengers need more pampering, they can go to the spa. During peak season, you can expect to pay between US$751 and US$1155 per person, per night. Meanwhile, it is US$2079 per cabin, per night for suite occupancy.

The Royal Scotsman is another popular luxury train. Passengers go on a five-day trip that begins and ends at Edinburgh, Scotland. Be sure to stay glued to the window to see beautiful highland landscapes and picturesque coastlines. The train also stops to allow passengers to explore the country. Passengers can go on tours of the moorlands and castles, walk through a pine forest and go fishing too. Each cabin has a berth bed with a quilted cotton bed cover, a private bathroom with a shower, a dressing table and a full-length wardrobe. The dining car offers Scottish cuisine. Other facilities include an Observation Car with a veranda that allows passengers to enjoy open-air views. This train also has a spa. The fare per passenger for one journey is between US$5400 and US$16300.
