"The Day Our Band Became Real"

I usually _____ (practice) guitar alone in my room, but last Saturday everything changed. While I _____ (walk) to the community center, I suddenly _____ (hear) loud music coming from inside. I _____ (never/play) with a real band before, but something about the sound pulled me in.

After I _____ (step) inside, I _____ (ask) the group if they needed another musician. When I _____ (show) them a short riff I had written, they _____ (invite) me to join immediately. One of them _____ (already/prepare) lyrics for a new song, and another _____ (just/tune) his bass.

We _____ (jam) for almost three hours, and by the time we finished, we _____ (agree) to form an official band. I _____ the demo tracks _____ (record / yet), but I've _____ (already/come) up with three new melodies. I _____ (think) about our sound for days, and I _____ (feel) motivated since that moment I walked into the room. Next week, we _____ (meet) again to plan our first gig. I _____ (be going to/write) the chorus, and my friend _____ (will/mix) the audio for our rehearsal. By the end of the year, we _____ (record) our first EP, and while we _____ (perform) at local events, I'm sure we _____ (grow) as musicians and as friends.

2) Complete the text with the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

30 points

Use First, Second, Third, Mixed 1, or Mixed 2 conditionals.

"The Cost of Playing It Safe"

Looking back, I realise that playing it safe for so many years slowed down my career. If I _____ (take) more risks when I was younger, I _____ (have) a much stronger professional network now. But at the time, I felt totally numb whenever I had to make a big decision — I just wasn't ready. If I _____ (believe) in my own abilities, I _____ (try) for that competitive internship everyone talked about. It was completely devastating to see others move forward while I stayed in the same place. If I _____ (not / spend) all my savings on useless things, I _____ (invest) in courses that would have actually helped me grow. The truth is, I simply couldn't believe how unprepared I'd been.

These days, things are finally changing. If I _____ (not / feel) this new sense of determination, I _____ (still / stay) stuck in a job with no future. That moment of self-awareness really inspired me to take action. If I _____ (be) more confident now, I _____ (contact) influential people in my industry years earlier. Still, I'm grateful for what I've learned. If I _____ (manage) to save enough this year, I _____ (apply) for a training program that requires a solid financial commitment. And I know that if I _____ (face) another major opportunity soon, I _____ (respond) with far more courage than before.
