

Living Like a Turtle

It is known that turtles carry their houses on their backs. But did you know that there are also people who move their house from place to place? Houses that move are built for different reasons.

Some people like traveling from place to place with their house and sleeping in their bed every night. These people live in a caravan. A caravan is a house on wheels and it has many things you would expect to see in a house: a kitchen, a bed, a bathroom and furniture.

In Mongolia, some people live in a round house made of fabric. This type of house is called a ger. Families that live in a ger own cows and goats. The animals eat the grass around the house. When there is no more grass for the animals to eat, the family carries the ger to a new place where their animals can find food.

Another house that can be moved is the bulla, which is found in Uganda. This is a round house made of straw, which is very light and easy to carry from place to place. When the weather changes and it rains, people carry their bulla to dry areas. They stay there until the weather changes again.

Native American Indians used to live in triangular-shaped tents called tepees. These houses were usually made of pieces of animal skin covering long sticks of wood, and were easy to move. Indian families moved their tepee to find better places to hunt animals for food. Indians don't live in tepees anymore. Today they are only used for special events.

People build different types of houses for all kinds of reasons. Whether they live in a house that can be moved or not, most people agree that there is no place like home.
