

CHOOSE THE RIGHT ARTICLE

It was very quiet. Ian was still at _____ work, Liam was in _____ town, having _____ good time and Ellie was already in _____ bed. Not to wake her up, Julia was talking in _____ low voice. To tell _____ truth, she would prefer to talk to Michael in _____ person, not by _____ phone. Unfortunately, there was no choice: Michael was in _____ hospital after the accident and meeting him was out of _____ question. _____ other day, when he had been on _____ holiday in Aspen, he had had a bad fall and broken his right arm and leg. Now he was in plaster from _____ head to _____ foot and it was quite hard for him even to hold the phone. As _____ result, she couldn't tell him everything in _____ detail. She was in _____ hurry to tell him at least the most important news and she didn't even realise that she had called him by _____ name. She thought nobody was listening.