Recount Text: My Culinary Trip in Tanjungpinang

Last year, I visited Tanjungpinang with my family for a short weekend trip. At first, we walked around the city to enjoy the seaside view and the calm atmosphere. The weather was warm, and the sea breeze made the afternoon feel very relaxing.

After that, we decided to try some local seafood at Akau Potong Lembu, one of the most famous food centers in the city. The place was lively, and the smell of grilled fish filled the air. I ordered a plate of chili crab and grilled squid. The food was so fresh and delicious that I finished everything very quickly. It was one of the best seafood meals I had ever tasted.

The next evening, we went to Melayu Square to try more local dishes. The area was crowded with families, students, and tourists. I tried a bowl of seafood noodles and some traditional snacks sold by the street vendors. The atmosphere felt warm and friendly, and I enjoyed watching the sunset while eating.

In the end, my culinary trip in Tanjungpinang became a memorable experience. I learned that the city is not only beautiful but also rich in unique and delicious food. I still remember the taste of the seafood, and I hope I can visit Tanjungpinang again someday.
