5. READING

Read the email about a family gathering. Five sentences have been removed. Choose from the sentences A–G the one which fits each gap (1–5). There is one extra sentence which you do not need to use.

Hi Claire

I heard that you're out of hospital now and I hope you're feeling much better. 0 E It was a shame you couldn't be there but everyone sends you their best wishes and says get well soon.

Granny had such a lovely time. It was a good idea of mum's to have a garden party because there were lots of children there. I'd forgotten how many kids Anna has now. The twins are nearly four and there's Bluebell, who is now a toddler, and a newborn baby boy called Dylan. 1 Do you remember when I used to come and babysit? You were such a cheeky girl – much more difficult to look after than Arthur. You would hide in all sorts of places and it took me ages to find you.

Anyway, of course you already know Arthur couldn't come all the way back from New York but he sent Granny some beautiful flowers and a card. 2 I can hardly believe she's only 15. She's really talented. I suspect she may be Granny's favourite great-grandchild!

I saw Jamie briefly and he says hello. He seems to have settled down now and his girlfriend is really lovely. 3 What did we use to call her? Moody Melanie! I'm glad she wasn't there.

Joanna and John were packing for their holiday but they popped in to see Granny. John managed to drop a bowl and smash it, even though they were only there for about half an hour! 4 Granny thought it was pretty funny. She said she remembered previous family get-togethers when mum would always ban him from the kitchen!

It was a nice touch to invite some of Granny's friends as well as family and we enjoyed getting to know them. Granny says she is having more fun now in her retirement than in her forties and fifties because then she was just focused on work and the family and she didn't use to have much time for socialising. 5 Her friends, Edna and Rowena, are in their late seventies but they don't seem elderly somehow. They certainly seemed to enjoy the children's company and all the tea and party food.

I'm attaching some photos so you can see how happy Granny was. I'm making a photo book too. Would you like me to order one for you?

Let me know when you're fully recovered and I'll bring her for a visit. She'd love to see you.

Lots of love

Julianne

- A She's called Sarah and she's very different from that awful woman he used to go out with.
- B I held him for a little while and it reminded me of when your brother Arthur was a baby.
- C He's just as accident-prone as he ever was.
- D As a middle-aged woman myself, I can see what she means!
- E I thought I'd email you to tell you about Granny's 70th party.
- F In fact, she got lots of nice cards and presents and Ella also made her a fantastic cake.
- G I was amazed at how many people turned up to celebrate with her.
