Read the paragraph below. Find the five misspelled words and circle them. Then, on the numbered lines, write the correct spelling for each circled word.

Annie Elizabeth Delany was the excepsion to many a rule. She was the first African Americanwoman to attend dental school at Columbia University. Her entrance applicacion caused a furor. By tradision, only whites were accepted. She was viewed with suspition, and her presence was seen as an intrution. She refused to back down. After graduating in 1923, Dr. Delany became one of only two African American dentists practicing in New York City.
