

Saturday

Whew, I'm tired! This week, I went to Colorado to visit my sister. We had such a good time, I didn't want to leave. This morning, my sister got up and made pancakes for breakfast. We sat at the table and talked for a long time. Then I looked at the clock. "Oh no!" I shouted. "We're late!" I took my suitcase, and we ran to my sister's car. She drove very fast. At the airport, I hugged her. We said goodbye, and then I ran to the gate. My plane was ready to leave! The man at the gate saw me running. He held the door open for me. "Thank you!" I said. I got on the plane and sat in my seat. Soon we were flying. I was on my way home. What an exciting end to a wonderful trip!
