

Grey Daze - Just Like Heroin

Just like heroin

It _____ be me, _____ to our passage

Show me my new skin, so I can see what I've _____ _____ with my thoughts

_____ and sound, hard to understand

No one can ever bring everyone to see

Just like heroin, just excuses

Just like heroin, just excuses

Standing _____ with my thoughts
_____ and sound, hard to understand

No one can ever bring everyone to see

Just like heroin, just excuses

Just like heroin, just excuses

Just like heroin!

Just like heroin!

It's my time to _____, dying on the floor

See myself as _____, excuses are

Just like heroin, just excuses

Just like heroin

Just excuses

Vocabulary

- just excuses
- to bring everyone to see
- to bring someone to
- to fade
- to see myself as I am

Fill in the gaps with the expression in correct form

1. Years of therapy finally _____ a point where she could talk about the trauma without panic.
2. No matter how clearly he explains his position, he knows he'll never _____ that he's right.
3. At first the anger was overwhelming, but with time it slowly began _____ into exhaustion.
4. Every time he's asked to take responsibility, he hides behind _____ instead of admitting the truth.
5. The hardest moment for her wasn't losing everything, it was learning _____ without lies or self-pity.

Below there are 5 short inner monologues.

Your task is to match each monologue with one expression from the list

1. No matter how many conversations I replay in my head, I know they'll never fully understand my side. I can explain, argue, beg but some people will still see only what they want.
2. I keep telling myself there are reasons, circumstances, bad timing, but deep down I know I'm avoiding the truth and hiding behind words.
3. At first the feeling was sharp and overwhelming, but lately it's getting quieter. It's still there, just weaker, like it's slowly disappearing.
4. I'm tired of pretending. I don't want excuses or masks anymore, I just want to look at who I really am, even if I don't like it.
- 5 I've been pushed further than I thought possible. This situation has changed me, forced me into a place I never planned to reach.