If people eat food every day, they will feel weak and tired. If they skip exercise, their body will become unhealthy too. If fresh fruit and vegetables become unnecessary, people will forget to eat healthy food. If animals, the environment will lose balance, and many plants will die. If the world feels unnatural, people will feel uncomfortable and unhappy. If schools or parks are unsuitable for children, families will not go there. If friends without talking politely, they will become and distant. If people eat food that looks unnatural, they will it and refuse to eat it. If we only focus on the disadvantages of every situation, we will feel sad and hopeless. If we do activities, we will waste time and energy. If the future is uncertain, people will feel worried and afraid. If neighbors are unfriendly, the community will feel cold and unhappy. If adults disagree about rules, children will feel confused. If someone eats unhealthy snacks instead of meals, they will feel sick. If unnecessary arguments happen at home, everyone will feel stressed. If beautiful nature disappears, people will lose a happy and healthy life.
