

Exercise 1: Reading.

Life in 2050

The world in 2050 will be very different from today. Technology will change how we live, work, and interact with others. Most people will live in smart cities where everything is connected. Robots will help us with daily chores and difficult physical tasks. We will probably see flying cars in the biggest urban areas. It is going to be an era of incredible innovation.

Scientists say that we are going to face big environmental challenges. To survive, we will need to find cleaner energy sources quickly. Solar and wind power are going to be our main resources. Many countries are going to build huge forests inside their cities. We must stop pollution before the planet becomes too hot soon. Education will also change, using virtual reality in every single classroom.

Communication is going to be faster than we can imagine now. We will use chips in our clothes to stay connected. Language barriers will disappear thanks to instant translation devices today. People are going to travel to Mars for expensive holidays. Space tourism will be a normal industry for the very rich. Life expectancy will increase because of new medical nanotechnology discoveries.

However, some things are going to stay exactly the same. Humans will still need friendship, love, and social physical contact. We are going to spend more time in digital worlds. But we will still value the beauty of real nature. Balancing technology and humanity will be our most important mission. Children will still play, although their toys will be smarter. The essence of being human will not change at all.

Work will be flexible and most people will work remotely. We are going to have more free time for hobbies. Artificial intelligence is going to manage most of the logistics. Companies will strive to be more sustainable and very eco-friendly. Young people will study subjects that do not even exist. Flexibility will be the most important skill for every worker. The global economy is going to transform into something new.

Finally, we must ask if we are ready for change. The future is going to arrive faster than we think. We will need to be kind and help each other. Evolution will continue to push us toward new amazing frontiers. Every decision we make today will shape our future world. We are going to create a legacy for next generations. Let's make sure it is a world worth living.

 Find us on
Facebook

English for children

Exercise 2: Reading Comprehension .

1. What will be the main change in cities?
a) They will disappear b) They will be smart c) They will be smaller
2. According to the text, who will help with chores?
a) Aliens b) Parents c) Robots
3. What is going to be a main energy source?
a) Coal b) Solar power c) Gasoline
4. How will students learn in the future?
a) Using VR b) Only with books c) Without teachers
5. Where are the rich going to travel for holidays?
a) To the moon b) To Mars c) To the ocean floor
6. Why will life expectancy increase?
a) Better food b) Nanotechnology c) Less work
7. What will humans still need in 2050?
a) Wired phones b) Friendship c) Paper maps
8. How will most people work?
a) In factories b) Remotely c) They won't work
9. What will be the most important skill?
a) Math b) Driving c) Flexibility
10. What shapes our future world?
a) Our past b) Luck c) Our decisions today

 Find us on
Facebook

English for children

Exercise 3: . Will vs. Going to (Fill in the blanks) .

1. Look at those clouds! It _____ rain.
2. I think people _____ live longer in the future.
3. I _____ (travel) to Japan next summer; I already have the tickets.
4. "The phone is ringing." "I _____ answer it!"
5. Watch out! You _____ spill your coffee.
6. Scientists believe we _____ find a cure for cancer.
7. We _____ (have) a party on Friday. Do you want to come?
8. I'm sure you _____ enjoy the movie.
9. They _____ (buy) a new car soon; they are saving money.
10. I _____ help you with those heavy bags.

Find us on
Facebook

Exercise 4: Order the Sentences.

- going / to / are / we / survive / how / ?
-
- will / not / robots / feel / emotions / .
-
- is / she / going / to / study / tonight / .
-
- they / will / travel / space / to / ?
-
- am / I / going / stay / to / home / at / .
-
- pollution / stop / will / soon / .
-
- you / are / going / to / sweep / floor / the / ?
-
- world / change / the / going / is / to / .
-
- will / spend / we / money / less / .
-
- not / going / is / he / to / swim / .
-

Find us on
Facebook

English for children

Exercise 5: Error Detection (Find and correct the mistake).

- I will going to visit my grandma.
-
- It is will rain tomorrow.
-
- We are go to start the race.
-
- She will starts her new job.
-
- They are going to buying a house.
-
- Will you going to help me?
-
- I think it is going be a good day.
-
- We will to stay at a hotel.
-
- He is not go to swim today.
-
- The sun will rises at 6 AM.
-

 Find us on
Facebook

English for children

Exercise 6: Change to Question.

- You will stay here.
-
- They are going to swim.
-
- It will start soon.
-
- We are going to study.
-
- She will swear the truth.
-
- He is going to sweat.
-
- They will survive.
-
- You are going to spend money.
-
- The dog will swing its tail.
-
- I am going to help.
-

Find us on Facebook

