WORLD WATER DAY

Image from Pexels

Every year on 22nd March, we celebrate World Water Day. It's a day to remember the importance of freshwater, to learn about the global water crisis and to think about what we can do to help.

Water is important for our bodies and daily activities. Our bodies are made up of about 60% water, so we need to drink plenty of it for good health. We also use water for cooking, washing, and brushing teeth. Toilets need water too, and each flush can use up to 6 litres. Farmers need water for growing food, and clothes production uses lots of water. For example, it takes about 2,700 litres to make one T-shirt.

Water is necessary for life, but over two billion people don't have safe water at home. That's about 25% of the world's population! Many people live in rural areas or places with war. Also, climate change makes water even harder to find.

We can get ill* when we drink dirty water or don't wash our hands before meals.

Every day, many children die from diseases caused by dirty water. In some places, people, especially women and children, walk many kilometres every day to get water, and sometimes the water is not clean.

The United Nations decided to make a special day for water: World Water Day. Many countries organize events to teach about the problems of dirty water and think about how everyone around the world can have clean water.

A PARK IN JAPAN

Ghibli Park is not a traditional theme park*, and there are not any rollercoasters. Ghibli movies are famous not only in Japan but all over the world, and now Ghibli Park gives us different areas inspired by the films.

Ghibli Asian Park offers the opportunity to enter into your favourite animated films in a magical and interactive experience.

The park is divided into 5 areas, each inspired by one Ghibli film.

Some of the areas are:

The Hill of Youth	Grand Warehouse	Dondoko Forest
It is the park's entrance. This suburban area with beautiful buildings and green places is inspired by movies like Whispers of the Heart and The Cat Returns.	This area has three special exhibitions, shops and a café. It has famous attractions like Totoro's Cat bus, Spirited Away's magical tunnel, and Arrietty's giant objects. It also has a small cinema with 170 seats.	This area includes Satsuki and Mei's house. You can see the inside of a house. There is a kitchen, a bathroom, a sitting room and more.
