TRS601 – ALL – REVIEW 1

1. Although the decision seemed risky at first, it was actually a highly _____ move that allowed the company to dominate the market in the long term.
   A. impulsive
   B. tactical
   C. strategic
   D. random
2. Because funds were limited and the demands were increasing, effective _____ became crucial to prevent unnecessary waste.
   A. diplomacy
   B. reinforcement
   C. retaliation
   D. resource allocation
3. While the theory appears illogical at first glance, it is not entirely _____ once you examine the data more closely.
   A. counterintuitive
   B. predictable
   C. transparent
   D. generic
4. Since she had extensive industry experience, she was able to _____ her professional network to secure a promotion.
   A. cede
   B. leverage
   C. enact
   D. diffuse
5. The government introduced _____ measures after neighboring countries increased tariffs on its goods.
   A. retaliatory
   B. sustainable
   C. fluid
   D. tangible
6. Although he _____ claimed to support free trade, his voting record suggested otherwise.
   A. radically
   B. cynically
   C. overwhelmingly
   D. ostensibly
7. Even though the negotiations were tense, the ambassador maintained his _____ status and avoided escalating the conflict.
   A. pathogenic
   B. militant
   C. diplomatic
   D. ethnocentric
8. Because the disease is highly _____, it can spread rapidly if preventive measures are not taken.
   A. contagious
   B. vague

LIVEWORKSHEETS

C. robust
D. equivalent

9. Although the vaccine contains an _____ virus, it cannot cause the actual disease.
   A. nonreplicating
   B. attenuated
   C. malignant
   D. generic
10. If governments fail to _____ strict environmental laws, pollution levels will continue to rise.
   A. defer
   B. emulate
   C. enact
   D. hypothesize
11. While the evidence was limited, the results were considered _____ by most scientists.
   A. incontestable
   B. indisputable
   C. ambiguous
   D. analogous
12. Because the organization is _____ upon donations, its survival depends heavily on public support.
   A. skewed
   B. inherent
   C. contingent
   D. tangible
13. Although the reform was introduced to promote equality, it had _____ consequences for small businesses.
   A. detrimental
   B. palatable
   C. even-handed
   D. fluid
14. Since the leader was highly _____, he managed to inspire millions despite fierce opposition.
   A. cynical
   B. charismatic
   C. deplorable
   D. restrictive
15. Although the symptoms seemed mild at first, the _____ of the disease was sudden and alarming.
   A. revival
   B. lag
   C. onset
   D. aggregate
16. If the infection is left untreated, it may _____ into a more severe condition.
   A. rally
   B. devolve
   C. flourish
   D. transcend
17. Because the results were _____ skewed toward one group, critics questioned the fairness of the study.
   A. disproportionately

LIVEWORKSHEETS

B. predominantly
C. exceedingly
D. vaguely

18. Although the law was intended to protect domestic industries, many economists criticized it as a _____ measure.
A. sustainable
B. counterintuitive
C. protectionist
D. fluid

19. Since the product was not _____ tested, consumers were hesitant to trust its effectiveness.
A. strategically
B. empirically
C. militantly
D. vaguely

20. Although the company faced financial difficulties, it remained _____ and quickly adapted to market changes.
A. robust
B. stagnant
C. vague
D. stationary

21. Because he failed to anticipate potential problems, his carefully designed plan began to _____.
A. thrive
B. prevail
C. go awry
D. usher in

22. Although the policy was intended to curb inflation, it had several unforeseen _____.
A. virtues
B. ramifications
C. disciplines
D. aggregates

23. While some critics dismissed the theory as _____, further research later confirmed its validity.
A. fanciful
B. pivotal
C. tangible
D. stringent

24. Because she refused to _____ unethical practices, she resigned from the company.
A. emulate
B. galvanize
C. adhere to
D. diffuse

25. Although the disease can lie dormant for years, its symptoms may suddenly become _____.
A. acute
B. equivalent
C. fluid
D. generic

LIVEWORKSHEETS

26. Since the organization was accused of corruption, it tried to restore public trust through greater _____.
    A. dominance
    B. transparency
    C. ambiguity
    D. hierarchy
27. While the country appeared economically stable, its financial prosperity was only _____.
    A. retaliatory
    B. innate
    C. ostensibly
    D. militant
28. Although the scientist proposed a bold _____, she admitted that more data were needed to support it.
    A. doctrine
    B. hypothesis
    C. tariff
    D. ritual
29. Because the leader was unwilling to compromise, the conflict escalated instead of being _____.
    A. mitigated
    B. proliferated
    C. accumulated
    D. wafted
30. Although the two theories are not identical, they are _____ in several important ways.
    A. divergent
    B. analogous
    C. militant
    D. fatal
31. Since pollution particles can _____ deep into the lungs, they pose serious health risks.
    A. infiltrate
    B. transcend
    C. diffuse
    D. prevail
32. Although the country imposed an import _____, domestic prices continued to rise.
    A. levy
    B. tariff
    C. quota
    D. asset
33. Because he acted _____, he damaged relationships that could have benefited him later.
    A. wrongheadedly
    B. robustly
    C. sustainably
    D. tangibly
34. While the reform aimed at social _____, critics argued that it widened existing inequalities.
    A. transgression
    B. betterment

LIVEWORKSHEETS

C. contagion
D. proliferation

35. Although the vaccine is generally well tolerated, minor side effects may still _____ in some patients.
A. infiltrate
B. eradicate
C. trigger
D. transcend

36. Since she showed remarkable _____ in the face of hardship, she eventually achieved success.
A. perseverance
B. ambiguity
C. prevalence
D. malignancy

37. Although the speech was emotionally powerful, some listeners found it overly _____ and exaggerated.
A. fluid
B. understated
C. overstated
D. analogous

38. Because the air was filled with fine _____, residents were advised to stay indoors.
A. circulation
B. particulate
C. antidote
D. ritual

39. Although the movement began peacefully, it later adopted more _____ tactics.
A. deferential
B. tangible
C. militant
D. scalable

40. Since the discovery marked a scientific _____, researchers celebrated it worldwide.
A. breakthrough
B. downfall
C. lag
D. doctrine

41. Although the disease was once widespread, it has now been nearly _____ thanks to vaccination programs.
A. infiltrated
B. eradicated
C. diffused
D. revived

42. Because the policy lacked solid evidence, many economists dismissed it as _____.
A. even-handed
B. robust
C. wrongheaded
D. pivotal

LIVEWORKSHEETS

43. Although she was initially _____ to criticism, she later accepted the feedback and improved her work.
    A. deferential
    B. hostile
    C. tangible
    D. vague
44. Since the factory emissions exceeded legal limits, the company faced _____ scrutiny from regulators.
    A. tangible
    B. fluid
    C. exceedingly
    D. stringent
45. Although he tried to _____ the seriousness of the issue, the public remained concerned.
    A. downplay
    B. leverage
    C. enact
    D. appraise
46. Because the disease affects the _____ system, patients often experience breathing difficulties.
    A. cardiovascular
    B. respiratory
    C. skeletal
    D. digestive
47. Although the data seemed convincing, it was later found to be statistically _____.
    A. equitable
    B. generic
    C. skewed
    D. tangible
48. Since the country heavily relies on oil exports, its economy is _____ to fluctuations in global prices.
    A. prone
    B. equivalent
    C. militant
    D. fluid
49. Although the theory was once considered radical, it has become part of the _____ doctrine in modern economics.
    A. transitory
    B. prevailing
    C. contagious
    D. vague
50. Because the innovation was both practical and scalable, it had the _____ to transform the industry.
    A. ramification
    B. asset
    C. discipline
    D. potential

LIVEWORKSHEETS