Exercise 1: Reading

"The Adventure Club"

Every Friday afternoon, Mia, Tom, and Lucas always meet after school. They have a small group called The Adventure Club. They begin their meetings in the library because it is quiet. They often draw maps of places they want to explore.

Mia wants to become a pilot one day, so she frequently talks about flying. She flies drones in the park to practice. Tom usually builds small robots at home. Lucas sometimes drinks iced tea while they plan.

One day, they decide to explore an old park. They go there by bike because it does not cost much. Tom almost loses his backpack, but Mia helps him keep it safe. They always laugh at Tom's forgetfulness.

At the park, they find an old wooden box under a tree. Lucas tries to open it, but he breaks the small lock. Inside, they get a strange note with a simple map. They feel excited and a little scared.

They come closer to the river shown on the map. Mia carefully drives her scooter along the path. Tom brings a camera to take pictures. They never leave trash behind; they respect nature.

At the river, they see a stone with symbols. Tom cuts some branches so they can read better. Lucas often draws the symbols in his notebook. They know the symbols must mean something.

Suddenly, the wind gets cold, and the water almost freezes. They feel nervous, but they do not run away. Mia says they should keep calm. Tom frequently jokes to make the group relax.

They follow the map to a small hill. There, they eat the snacks they buy at the store every week. Lucas lends Mia his jacket because she is cold. They grow more curious as they climb.

On top of the hill, they find the final clue: a message saying "Friendship is the real treasure." They give each other a smile. They always enjoy their adventures together. Then they decide to leave and plan their next trip soon.
