The role of books and media in early childhood learning

Many parents believe they should start teaching their children to read when they are scarcely more than toddlers. This is fine if the child shows interest, but Q29.1..... Wise parents take a relaxed approach and follow their child's lead. They should provide a variety of stimulating toys, books, and activities. Nowadays, there is plenty of good materials available, and seeing books around the house will encourage children to read.

Q29.2..... A huge range of videos can reinforce and extend a child's enjoyment and are equally valuable for building vocabulary and concentration. Television gets criticized because many children spend too much time watching programs Q29.3..... Too many TV programs induce an incurious, uncritical attitude, making learning harder. Q29.4..... Just like adults enjoy reading a book after seeing it on TV, children are excited to read books with their favorite TV characters, and videos can bring a new aspect to a story they already know from a book.
