

oil spill

toxic waste

acid rain

species
extinction

it happens when the last individual of a specific type of animal or plant dies, and that type of living thing is gone from Earth forever polluted rain that contains harmful acids, which can damage plants, water, soil, and buildings dangerous trash from factories or chemicals that can harm people, animals, and the environment it happens when oil leaks into the ocean or land, polluting water, harming wildlife, and damaging the environment