

- 1 A young couple decided to build a very homemade house to be able to survive on an annual income of just $10,000.
- 2 The plastic sheet they used on their earth-sheltered house should have a of at least 50 years.
- 3 Extensive green roofs provide much of the environmental performance benefits of deeper, intensive green roofs but cannot support general foot
- 4 Over time, the company specialized in energy, earth-sheltered homes, and athletic clubs.
- 5 Earth-sheltered homes have energy-efficient features providing a comfortable, tranquil,
- 6 The two basic types of earth-sheltered house designs are and bermed.
- 7 Windows, glass doors and exposed walls provide light, solar heat, outside views, and from the ground level.
- 8 The floor plan is arranged accordingly to ensure that common areas and bedrooms share from the southern exposure.
- 9 In underground homes carved into the landscape, earth covers the, except where there are windows and doors.
- 10 It is necessary for earth-sheltered homes that have foot traffic on the roof to implement

- 1 The developers have confirmed that supermarkets will be opening near
- 2 While Briston Supermarkets are popping up everywhere, other shops in are closing down.
- 3 The company's marketing arm says this shop is different from other stores because they will be focusing solely on
- 4 With the ongoing constructions and renovations, more than 200 employees have been displaced, being assigned to other stores or
- 5 The Briston Supermarket Development states that retail stores should be flexible with acquiring
- 6 The CEO of the development company stated in an interview that the to being successful is to keep an open mind.
- 7 The development company has branch offices all over Europe, but its is close to London.
- 8 The company admits that seeking help from their benefits them greatly.
- 9 Coordinating is not an easy task, so the company has a who handles nothing but discussions.
- 10 The manager said that re-organising or reducing the number of people in the helps the department save on overhead costs.

- 1 The research to compare contents in supermarkets involved interviewing
- 2 The research results are published online, so anyone can search for
- 3 The team involved in the supermarket content comparison research included customer service
- 4 Sunshine Supermarket has a wide range of and this gives them an advantage in that market.
- 5 Although Sunshine Supermarket has an edge in the organic food market, they use too much and this sometimes turns customers off.
- 6 Twin City Supermarket attracts customers by for free.
- 7 One disadvantage that Twin City Supermarket has is their products.
- 8 Fresh Pride Supermarket has an edge in the local market because they offer products.
- 9 Fresh Pride Supermarket has to improve their staff to provide better customer service.
- 10 Goodings Supermarket has limited products but they are able to pay for

- 1 Tumucumaque located in the northeast of the Amazon covers an area of 39,000
- 2 The Tumucumaque rainforest is considered the world's biggest
- 3 The site is preserved with cooperation from the government and help from scientists and local
- 4 Mapping the area required the application of GPRS data and in addition to local knowledge.
- 5 There are some places in the area where plants used from
- 6 The result of the mapping will be the first and most important step in protecting the local and world
- 7 Another result of the mapping can be a
- 8 The map can be used to educate children about their
- 9 The main problem with making the map is the
- 10 The most significant result of this project is that it included from the local people.

- 1 of saffron can make 14,000 litres of medicinal bath water.
- 2 The method used to preserve the spices used for the medicinal bath is
- 3 The problem is that people rarely sold the saffron, dyes and spices in
- 4 There are many modern medical applications that widely use spices, such as in common and other cuisines.
- 5 One of the medical applications where spices are used is in the treatment of
- 6 In a rat experiment, it was shown that saffron can protect the eyes from and retinal stress.
- 7 In ancient Greek, people dyed their with spices.
- 8 In ancient Rome, saffron and spice were used for
- 9 Women in ancient Rome used saffron and spices as for their baths.
- 10 In ancient Rome and what used to be Persia, which is now Iran, they used saffron and spices to

- 1 The first reason why IT (information technology) was adapted in colleges is because was unsuccessful.
- 2 Information technology has a great connection and with the local economy.
- 3 Information technology is mainly applied in the that involve computers.
- 4 With information technology, students, teachers and professors enjoy with each other.
- 5 Knowledge of information technology helps build up the students'
- 6 The use of information technology helps provide students with more
- 7 There are many benefits to using information technology and that includes having new
- 8 One of the many benefits to information technology is that it provides new solutions to
- 9 Another benefit of having information technology in colleges is that it helps students develop their
- 10 The existence of information technology in colleges subsidises the students'

- 1 The differences between settled and nomadic nations are presented in a graph.
- 2 The nomadic settlers made a for their family's accommodations.
- 3 Not having too many possessions, nomads used a as their main transport.
- 4 It is the who lead in both settled and nomadic nations.
- 5 In both settled and nomadic nations, local residents are helped by
- 6 Farmers barter with the nomad settlers in exchange for their help.
- 7 The nomads food and goods with the locals for clothing.
- 8 The nomads help the local farmers and prepare the meat of the animals that were slaughtered.
- 9 Unlike permanent settlers, nomads usually live in temporary shelters like
- 10 The difference between settled and nomadic nations is a mix between two lifestyles that requires an level of understanding.

- 1 Gastropods, such as snails, have a that is similar to the sea.
- 2 Gastropods, such as snails, have a pattern on their shell that generally goes to the
- 3 There are some gastropods that, unlike snails, have on their shell.
- 4 The diet of gastropods, such as snails, is mainly made up of
- 5 Gastropods like snails were first introduced as food in the
- 6 Gastropods, such as snails, have a unique and special
- 7 The environment that is most dangerous for gastropods is an area with
- 8 Gastropods, such as snails, live in old
- 9 There are some particular species of gastropods that live
- 10 Gastropods, such as snails, are good indicators of the standard of the

- 1 Salt is essential for our because it helps digestion, adrenal function, cellular metabolism and brain development.
- 2 The English word comes from the Latin word for “salt” because the Roman Legions were sometimes paid in salt.
- 3 Salt is a necessity preserving agent especially in places where is only available in October.
- 4 During the summer, the animals are fed in the local surrounding
- 5 We can tell from records of the diet of the that salt was already widely used in 1573.
- 6 During those times, was epic largely because the food was so salty.
- 7 Sweden must protect their trade for the sake of the people who rely on imported commodities.
- 8 In dry and arid places, salt is collected from basins in
- 9 According to historical records, the salt created from spring water is purer and
- 10 The salt trade naturally became a means and

- 1 According to the research, absence is sometimes caused by factors
- 2 According to the research, absence can also be a result of an
- 3 According to the research, the in certain companies leads to high absence rates.
- 4 According to the research, absenteeism can also be caused by
- 5 This phenomenon of work absenteeism is detrimental to the
- 6 A larger is required to make up for missed work because of absences.
- 7 Absenteeism has also been found to reduce a group's
- 8 Absenteeism has also been confirmed to result in
- 9 It's been confirmed in the research that controlling the absence rate brings to both individuals and organisations.
- 10 The only option for companies who employ people who have high absence rates is to them.