A Train to Change

Tomorrow I _____ a new chapter in my life. I _____ my hometown early in the morning and head toward the city. This time tomorrow I _____ on a train, watching the landscape change outside the carriage window. Perhaps, I _____ with some people on the train. I'm a people person and make friends easily.

When I arrive, I _____ for a place to live near my workplace. Before I find something suitable, I _____ at my aunt's. But I hope that by the end of this month I _____ a place to live. I _____ the city all the time, trying to find out where everything is. By next month I _____ how to navigate the city without a map or GPS.

At this time next year, I _____ in my dream job. I _____ experience and improving my skills every day. By then, I _____ there for almost a year. I _____ many of my dreams, but I know I _____ dreaming bigger.

LIVEWORKSHEETS