

Based on James and Sarah's conversation, identify which of the statements are true or false.

1. Sarah and James are working on a project about grammar rules only.
2. James compared the beach and the mountains in his presentation.
3. The mountains are described as more remarkable than the beach.
4. Pollution at the beach is considered a noteworthy problem.
5. Limited parking is described as a trivial issue.
6. Sarah created a poster about her favorite destination.
7. Essential services include hotels and transportation.
8. Being confident is considered an insignificant personality trait.
9. Being rude is described as a negligible trait in relationships.
10. James did an interview with classmates about personalities.
11. In the role-play, Sarah acted as a dominant person.
12. Exercise is described as a trivial daily activity.
13. Sleep is considered a critical activity.
14. Scrolling on the phone is described as insignificant.
15. Studying and eating well are key routines.
16. Pneumonia is described as a minor illness.
17. A cold is considered a negligible illness.
18. Washing hands is mentioned as an essential prevention method.
19. Marginal risks can never become serious problems.