Reading Part 1

Read the text about Rachel Wright a famous runner and healthy style advisor.

Answer the questions which follow. For each question, answer A, B, C or D. (10 marks)

One morning in January 2011, Rachel Wright a normal British woman discovered she had gained 120- pounds by the age of 28. Rachel realized that crying over her problem wouldn't help her. She knew that she had to do something before it was too late, so she decided to try some sports first. But which sport should she choose? Although swimming is a difficult sport, she had already tried it before and she was good at it, however, she chose running in the end. "I wanted to get back into swimming but hated the way I looked, so I decided to try running instead" Rachel said.

Within a year, Rachel's life had changed thanks to sports and a healthy life style. She'd lost 50 pounds in a year without going on a diet. Running became part of her routine, and she fell in love with it. Changing her eating habits was also a big help, "instead of opening a bag of chips or biscuits after a long day at work, I would lace up my running shoes and start running, also I learnt to eat the proper amount of food, but the key to success in all of this is the timing. You have to do everything at the right time" Rachel said.

Now Rachel has her own web page with thousands of followers. Just go to the web site, write your current weight, then you have to choose a sport that you really like to do. You will need also to choose types of food that you love, so she can add these to your plan, then Rachel will suggest a schedule for you to follow. She'll also add a place where you can share your achievement on an hourly basis, which is very unique for a website. On her website, she encourages her followers to aim for their targets.

- 1 1 Why didn't Rachel choose swimming as her sport?
 - (a) Because swimming is a difficult sport.
 - (b) Because she fell in love with running.
 - (c) Because she wanted to try a new sport.
 - (d) Because she hated the way her body looked.

- 2 What does Rachel believe is the most important tip for success?
 - (a) getting the timing right.
 - (b) knowing the right amount of food to eat.
 - (c) doing a sport that you actually like.
 - (d) choosing the right plan to follow.

- 3 What makes Rachel's web page special?
 - (a) giving a scheduled diet for participants
 - (b) having thousands of followers
 - (c) sharing achievements every hour
 - (d) adding different kinds of food

- 4 What is the purpose of this text?
- (a) to encourage people to set up a health website
 - (b) to warn readers about the dangers of being fat
 - (c) to advise readers how to keep a healthy lifestyle
 - (d) to tell the reader about the importance of diet

- 5 Which of these sentences would Rachel say?

(a) You have to stop eating what you love if you want to lose weight.

(b) Live happily and always put your health first.

(c) Choose running as your sport even if you don't like it.

(d) Sharing your achievements with others is not a good habit when you're on a diet.

Reading Part 1

Read the text about Kareem who is talking about his first climbing experience.

Answer the questions which follow. For each question, answer A, B, C or D. (10 marks)

Ever since I was in the 11th grade, I have been thinking and dreaming about it. But not until I finished my university studies, did I have the chance to make it really happen. When I saw an advertisement on a Facebook page about a "climbing trip " to Saint Katherine Mountain, in Sinai, I decided to join immediately.

Before the trip, I went to the Bedouin camp on Saint Katherine Mountain by 7.00 p.m., where I attended a meeting with the trip guide and a group of climbers to get prepared for the big day. We were handed the climbing bag, and the climbing equipment including a couple of ropes, shoes and a dozen of quick draws to use in competition. The guide took time to explain technical features and stressed the need for safety measures. I went to bed early as we had to start moving at first light.

The weather was cloudy but not so hot. We started moving behind our guide, Samir, who taught us how to secure the rope. After watching the sunrise at a very beautiful location, we enjoyed taking photos at the Bedouin tent drinking their special tea.

On our way up, we learnt how to use the belay plate, a device used to feed rope and to make it tight when a climber is leading. As it was my first time, I struggled to find gaps, some of the points were tricky and my fingers started to hurt.

The hardest thing for me was to let go of the rocks, I knew it was safe -although I felt afraid-, but it was fun and exciting, I enjoyed looking down from the top, viewing those layers of natural rocks-, it was amazing. After resting, we started to make our way down again. The whole experience will remain in my head and my imagination all my life.

- 1 When did Kareem start to think about climbing?
 - (a) when he was in elementary school
 - (b) when he saw an advertisement
 - (c) when he was in high school
 - (d) when he had a chance to make it

- 2 What did Kareem do to prepare on the night of the trip?
 - (a) He checked a Facebook page.
 - (b) He attended a meeting with the trip guide.
 - (c) He called the Bedouin camp and made a reservation.
 - (d) He packed the required equipment and clothes.

- 3 What kind of things did Kareem learn from Samir?
 - (a) what to wear and carry
 - (b) how to deal with fears and heights
 - (c) information about Saint Katherine Mountain
 - (d) to use the equipment properly

5

- 4 According to Kareem, what was the most difficult part of the trip?
- (a) dealing with climbing tools.
 - (b) following the guide instructions.
 - (c) getting used to the weather.
 - (d) learning to let go of the rocks.
- 5 How did Kareem describe his trip?
- (a) unforgettable
 - (b) frightening
