

At the Night Market-Reading Comprehension

I love the night market there are so many exciting things happening around me. I see a lady holding balloons, they look so big and colorful. I want to buy a balloon but my mum won't let me she says "Wait a little while, there might be something you want more."

I know she's probably right. I can smell the food coming from the food stands, there are so many different cuisines! There are fresh fruit shakes, I can see the man making them. The fruit looks so fresh! The bananas look a bit old though so I choose a mango shake instead. When I take a sip of my drink it tastes so sweet and delicious. It's loud at the night market, there are so many different sounds. To my left, I can hear music playing from a bluetooth speaker that the shop owner is trying to sell. To my right, there is music coming from the band, it sounds wonderful. I walk over to the stall where there is a lady selling Khmer silk scarves, they look so beautiful and they feel so soft. We walk around for a while longer, and then, we stop to eat. I don't like the smell of the durian it smells gross, but it tastes delicious. My mum gets prawns, they smell incredible, I try one but it tastes way too spicy! I decide I will get some of the fried chicken, it tastes okay. I wish I got the beef noodles instead, they look so tasty! I love the night market, I hope I can go again soon.
