

The Ant Show Parody

In this parody of The Ant Show, Sira is the host of a funny TV program. First, she interviews Mireia, a superficial influencer who talks nervously and laughs at everything. Then, two guests arrive: Ivet and Estela, who say they are identical twins.

Sira gives them a “Whiteboard Challenge” with different questions. The girls write their favorite color, hobby, superpower, and school subject. However, all their answers are completely different. Ivet likes blue, reading, invisibility, and English, while Estela prefers green, parties and sports, flying, and Maths.

At the end, the truth is revealed: Ivet and Estela are not twins, only sisters. The audience becomes angry because they became famous by pretending to be identical twins on social media.
