

The Fire Drill

The alarm was so loud! I covered my ears and looked for my teacher. He pointed to the line of students by the door. I walked to my place in line, and we left the classroom. Everyone in the school was leaving the building. We stayed in line outside, quietly and carefully following our teacher's directions. Fire trucks came, but it was not a real fire. Finally, we were led back inside. My teacher explained that this was a fire drill. We do this to practice how to be safe. He said we would learn and practice more drills, too.
