A TRIP TO LONDON

My name's Helen. I live in a small village with my younger brother and my mum and dad. My brother's name is Harry. Last Sunday, my parents took us to London. We were very excited. Harry's best friend came too. His name is Michael. We went to the station and caught the train to London.

We went to a science museum first because my dad is interested in space and planets. We went into a dark room and watched a film about the planets. Then we went inside a spaceship and an astronaut told us about how she lives and eats in space. 'How do you sleep in space? Do you have a bed?' asked Harry. 'We do, but there is no up or down in space and we can sleep anywhere. We glue our bed to the wall!' the astronaut said. I was very surprised. Then we went by bus to London Zoo. Harry's favourite animals are penguins. It took us 20 minutes to find them! But we had a great time watching them. A large penguin jumped out of the water. Then a small penguin jumped out of the water, much higher than the first. Harry shouted, 'Look at the penguins. The penguins are jumping out of the water!' and a penguin jumped out and landed on Harry! We all laughed.
