1)

A: To be the King of England is a responsibility like no other on 1 You must become a symbol of all that is best about England. An embodiment of our history, our 2, our morality, our pride of achievement. In short, our ideal of civilization. You must in the harsh light of public scrutiny...exhibit all our 3 and none of our shortcomings.
B: Wait a minute. I thought all I was supposed to do was get dressed 4 and wave. I don't even know what our virtues are.
A: You will 5 soon enough.

2)

A: This is going too far, Ced. You can't tell me who to marry. Isn't being the king of England worth something?
B: Indeed it is. That's why you must marry...to protect your birthright.
A: What about 6? What about matters of the heart?
B: Matters of the heart must be subordinated to the good of the monarchy. You're the last of the Wyndham family. A 7 must be found to perpetuate the line. Princess Anna I assure you is the best of the acceptable candidates. Look, I know this is difficult for you, but there are times when you just put aside your personal desires. A king's life is not always his own!
A: You're serious about this? Aren't you, Ced?
B: Yes!
A: Well, I got news for you. My life is my own and I can't take this shit anymore. I got everything in the world here and nothing I 8

No friends, no freedom, no fun! At least back in the States I could screw up my life as I saw fit. Well, you can take this job and shove it down somebody else's throat 'cause I quit! I'm out of here!
B: Just like that you'd walk out on the English people?
A: I told you from the 9 I was the wrong guy for this.
B: You seem to be the wrong guy for everything, Ralph.
A: Ralph. Who are you calling Ralph? It's "Your Majesty" to you.
B: Not anymore. You quit...just as you quit the bear scouts.
A: Cub scouts.
B: Little league, high school band, three colleges and an assortment of jobs too 10 to mention!

3)

A: I just wanna say that when I first came here, I hardly knew where England was. But over the last couple of months something has changed. I'll always consider myself an American but I've come to feel like I'm 11, too. I now realize how important a king can be to his people if he's the right man. I also know that I'm too set in my ways to ever be that man. As an Englishman, I want all of us to have the kind of king we deserve. For that reason, tomorrow I'm turning over the 12 to Cedric Charles Willingham...who you'll be glad to know is also a Wyndham and the better more qualified man that any 13 could hope for. And so to him I pledge my allegiance. Long live Cedric I...by the grace of 14, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith. God 15 the King!

II. Listen to this dialogue from "King Ralph" and fill in the blanks with the right word.

A: I am told you are something of a sportsman. My particular passion is 16, No game like it for a gentleman.
B: I've heard that. If I ever get to be one, I'll take it up.
A: Do you ever do any fencing?
B: Just a little, when I was a kid. A couple of watches here and there.
C: The princess is quite lovely, isn't she?
B: Yes. She doesn't say much, but she is what they call in America a "fox".
C: I am glad you find her so. Best wishes in your fox-hunting. Your Majesty.
A: Fox-hunting? You like fox-hunting?
B: I don't get around much lately, but I used to go out almost every 17, One club or another.
A: Really? That often? You must have collected several 18
B: Well, I admit I slept with a few, but I'm not like that anymore. Nowadays you can't be too careful. You never know who they've been with.
A: No,... I 19 not.
B: Of course, once I had a steady girl, that put an end to it.
A: She didn't like fox-hunting?
B: Well, of course not! Anna isn't into it, is she?
A: Oh, yes, she 20 it. Most royals do.
