A trip to Edinburgh by Kelly Taylor

Last month, I went on a trip to Edinburgh in Scotland. Let me tell you about my experience.

On the first day, we went on a sightseeing bus tour. Sightseeing tours are great because you can see lots of places quickly. After the tour, we visited the Museum of Scotland and the Museum of Edinburgh. They've got amazing collections about Scottish history and culture. In the museums, we saw photos of what Edinburgh used to look like. There didn't use to be so many tourists. But a lot of things are the same - for example, the castle and many sculptures.

On the second day, we visited my favourite museum - the Museum of Childhood. It's got a collection of children's toys from the past. You can see how children used to have fun in the past. They didn't use to have mobile phones or laptops, so they used to find other ways to have fun, like playing with puppets.

On the third day, we went to the Writers' Museum. It's all about three of Scotland's most famous writers: Robert Louis Stevenson, Sir Walter Scott and Robert Burns. I liked reading their notebooks. They showed how they used to find ideas for their books. My favourite writer, JK Rowling, lives in Edinburgh. She used to write her books in The Elephant House café. It's near a car park in the Old Town.

On the last day, we went to Jenners. It's the oldest department store in Edinburgh. It didn't use to have electricity, so they used to use candles instead of bulbs! If you stand on the pavement opposite Jenners, you can see how big the building is.

Our trip to Edinburgh was fantastic. It's a beautiful city with lots of things for tourists to see and do. If you want to go on a city break, go to Edinburgh!
