A. Mrs. Wilson

Mrs. Wilson owns a grocery store near the bus station. She pays close attention to customer feedback and tries to offer friendly service. Last Saturday, she gave customers a 20% discount on fruit that was still fresh but would not last much longer. The offer was successful, and the fruit sold like hot cakes. By the end of the afternoon, several customers asked for more, but the shelves were empty.

B. Oliver

Oliver is economical and rarely buys something immediately. He wanted a new pair of trainers, so he shopped around online and in several sports shops before making a decision. Finally, he found a pair at half price. He checked the label carefully and kept the receipt in his wallet because he wanted to be able to return them if there was a problem.

C. Sophie

Sophie went to the shopping centre to buy a jacket for a school event. She tried on two jackets in the fitting room, but neither one suited her. One was too large, while the other had a price label that was different from the price on the shelf. The cashier apologised and checked the price for her. In the end, Sophie did not buy a jacket, but she and her friend enjoyed window shopping in the other stores.
