

PRACTICE # 2

Choose the correct quantifier that completes each sentence.

1. Every many all student in the class received a certificate.
2. There are every all some books on the shelf that you can borrow.
3. None all each of the cookies were left after the party.
4. We have every a little none time before the movie starts, so let's relax.
5. Every no many people attended the concert despite the rain.
6. I invited several all each friends to my birthday party.
7. Each many all child was given a different task to complete.
8. There is a few all a little milk left in the refrigerator.
9. Every none all students passed the final exam.
10. There are no any all apples in the basket. It is empty.
11. She has a little none any experience in teaching, but she is eager to learn.
12. A little none all of the proposals submitted by the committee met the requirements, although two came very close.
13. The manager spoke with a little none all employee individually before announcing the changes.
14. There is still a little none each evidence missing, so the investigation cannot be closed yet.
15. Some any all researchers argue that the results are significant, while others remain unconvinced.

Prepositions of Time and Place. Circle the correct preposition for each sentence.

1. The researchers agreed to meet in on at dawn in on at the observation deck to record the eclipse.
2. Most of the documents were discovered in on at the archives, hidden in on at a shelf that had not been examined for decades.
3. The conference will begin promptly in on at 8:30 a.m in on at Monday, so participants are expected to arrive early.

4. We spent several hours wandering in on at the historic district before stopping for lunch in on at a small café near the cathedral.
5. The final decision was announced in on at the end of the meeting, which had started in the early afternoon.
6. The sculpture has stood in on at the town square since it was unveiled in on at 1998.
7. The students left their backpacks at the entrance and gathered in on at the auditorium for the presentation.
8. Many species become active at night, while others prefer to hunt in on at the early morning hours.
9. The missing files were eventually located in a folder buried deep in on at the company's database.
10. She noticed a significant improvement in on at her performance after attending a workshop in on at the weekend.

