Review of Amazing

by Gina Thomann

A new play called Amazing is now on at the Town Theatre, and it's really worth seeing. The action takes place in a school, and the play starts by showing a group of students inventing an extraordinary machine. They then use this machine in order (27) learn about history and other school subjects by travelling backwards through time. (28) example, they see exactly what happened when important medicines (29) discovered.

(30) the story is extremely interesting, some of the acting is not so good. None (31) the actors are very well known, and I think the play would be a bit better if it had more experienced people in the main roles.

Despite (32) , I would definitely recommend you to go and see it because of the fantastic story, and the rather surprising ending.
