Listening Script: At the Movie Theater

G: Hey, what movie do you want to watch tonight?

B: Hmm, there are so many good ones. How about "Frozen 3" or "Toy Story 5"?

G: Those look fun, but I think "Batman: The New Hero" would be more _____.

It's an action movie!

B: Really? I love action movies too. We see eye to eye on this!

G: _____ ?

B: It means we _____ with each other. We both think the same way about the movie.

G: Oh, I see! So you really want to watch Batman with me?

B: Yes! Let's watch that movie together.

Before the Piano Competition

B: Hey, are you ready for your piano competition tomorrow?

G: Not really. I'm so nervous I can't even sleep.

B: Don't worry too much. I'll keep my fingers crossed for you.

G: Sorry, _____ ?

B: I said, I'll keep my fingers crossed for you.

G: What does that mean?

B: It means I hope good things happen to you. I'm wishing you _____ .

G: Oh, thank you! That makes me feel so much better.

B: You're going to do great tomorrow!
