Our Environment Presentation

Last week, our class prepared a presentation about pollution in our town. Before we started, our teacher asked us to do some research and find useful information about air, water and plastic pollution.

We divided the presentation into three parts. Each section had a clear heading so that the information was easy to follow. My group talked about plastic waste in rivers and explained how it can harm animals.

On Friday, we gave our presentation in the school hall. The audience included our classmates, teachers and some parents. At first, I felt nervous, but everyone paid attention and listened carefully. At the end, our teacher said that our ideas were really awesome.

1. What was the presentation about?
→ _____
2. What did the students do before preparing their presentation?
→ _____
3. Where did the students give their presentation?
