

STATIVE AND ACTION VERBS

A Busy Week at Work

This week, Daniel is working on an important project at his company. He is spending a lot of time with his team because they are preparing a presentation for an important client.

Daniel usually works from home, but this week he is working at the office. He likes working with his colleagues because they understand his ideas and know how to solve problems quickly.

At the moment, Daniel is thinking about some changes to the presentation. He thinks the original plan is good, but he wants to make a few improvements.

Daniel has a laptop that he uses every day. Today, he is having a meeting with his manager. His manager seems happy with the progress, and Daniel agrees with her.

Although Daniel needs to finish the presentation soon, he is enjoying the project because he believes it will be successful.

GRAMMAR: STATIVE AND ACTION VERBS

Action verbs describe actions or activities. They can normally be used in both the Present Simple and Present Continuous.

Examples: work, study, play, run, cook, write, read, talk, watch, learn, travel, prepare.

Present Simple → habits and routines: "I work from Monday to Friday."

Present Continuous → actions happening now or around now: "I am working on a special project this week."

Stative verbs describe a state rather than an action. They commonly express thoughts, opinions, feelings, possession, relationships, or situations. They are usually NOT used in the continuous form.

Common stative verbs:

- Thinking/knowledge: know, understand, believe, remember, mean, think (opinion)
- Feelings/preferences: like, love, hate, want, need, prefer
- Other: seem, agree, own, belong, have (possession)

Some verbs can be stative or action depending on their meaning:

Verb	Stative meaning	Action meaning
think	I think this movie is excellent. (opinion)	I am thinking about my future. (considering)
have	I have a new computer. (possession)	We are having lunch. (activity)
see	I see a bird. (perception)	I am seeing my doctor tomorrow. (meeting)
taste/smell	The soup tastes delicious. (description)	The chef is tasting the soup. (action)
feel	I feel tired today.	I am feeling much better today.

Quick rule:

Action verbs → can usually be used in the Simple or Continuous forms.

Stative verbs → are usually used in the Simple form. Some verbs change meaning, so their form depends on the context.

Exercise 1 – Choose the Correct Form

1. I _____ this is a great idea. a) think b) am thinking
2. She _____ about changing her job at the moment. a) thinks b) is thinking
3. We _____ our teacher's explanation. a) understand b) are understanding
4. They _____ dinner right now. a) have b) are having
5. He _____ two cars. a) has b) is having
6. I _____ this song. It's beautiful! a) love b) am loving
7. Sarah _____ her friends this evening. a) sees b) is seeing
8. This soup _____ delicious. a) tastes b) is tasting

Exercise 2 – Complete the Sentences

1. I usually _____ from home, but today I _____ at the office. (work)
2. She _____ this restaurant. (not / like)
3. We _____ a meeting right now. (have)
4. He _____ the answer. (know)
5. They _____ about their holiday at the moment. (think)
6. I _____ you are right. (believe)
7. Look! The chef _____ the soup. (taste)
8. This coffee _____ really good. (taste)

Exercise 3 – Correct the Mistakes

1. I am knowing the answer. _____
2. She is liking her new job. _____
3. We are believing that he is right. _____
4. I am thinking this movie is excellent. _____
5. He is having a new car. _____
6. They are understanding the problem. _____
7. This cake is tasting delicious. _____
8. She is owning three apartments. _____