

Forgive my _____ head
Our revolution's _____
They've _____ all our pride
They want money instead
They've gone and _____ my side
I think they want me dead
Yeah, I think I _____ what he said (*3)
Chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck chuck what I said
Chuck chuck chuck check check check chick chick chick chick what she said
Suicide's for _____ he said
While sat drinking himself to death
I bow on my knees for you
But I'm already _____
I wait at the _____ for you (*3)
Wait _____ (*6)

Vocabulary

- to be wasted
- to be/bow on one's knees
- to drink oneself to death
- to forgive my crippled head
- to gamble something
- to second someone's opinion/proposal
- to wait out

Match each picture with a phrase. One of them is used twice

Complete the sentences

1. I'm sorry, I completely forgot what you told me yesterday, forgive my crippled head, but _____.
2. She knew that admitting her mistake would be humiliating, but she decided to gamble all her pride and _____.
3. After losing everything, he started drinking every night and seemed determined to drink himself to death because _____.
4. By midnight, everyone else was still talking, but he was so wasted that _____.
5. The storm was getting worse, so we decided to wait it out and _____.
6. When she suggested changing the plan, I decided to second her opinion because _____.
7. He had made such a terrible mistake that he was prepared to bow on his knees and _____.

Read each situation and imagine that you are the person involved. What would you do? Explain your solution using the expression in bold

1. You have forgotten something important that your friend told you yesterday. Now they are annoyed because you clearly don't remember the conversation.

What would you say to them? Use: to forgive my crippled head.

2. You have a chance to tell your boss that their decision is completely wrong. However, if you speak honestly, you might look arrogant or embarrass yourself in front of everyone.

Would you take the risk? What would you do? Use: to gamble all my pride.

3. Your friend suggests a controversial idea at a meeting. Everyone else stays silent, but you actually think their proposal makes sense.

How would you react? Would you support them? Use: to second their proposal.

4. Someone you know has started drinking heavily after a serious personal problem. They drink almost every day and seem to be destroying their life.

What would you say or do to help them? Use: to drink themselves to death.

5. You desperately need someone to forgive you after a terrible mistake. You have already apologised several times, but they still refuse to listen.

How far would you go to convince them? Use: to be/bow on my knees.

6. You arrive at a party and realise that your best friend is extremely drunk. They can barely walk or speak properly and want to drive home.

What would you do? Use: to be wasted.

7. You are trapped at home during a terrible storm. The roads are dangerous, public transport has stopped, and you can't safely leave the house.

What would you do until the storm is over? Use: to wait out.